

Toni McBride Wellness Membership Scholarship Application Form Cornell University Wellness Program

The Toni McBride Wellness Scholarship offers reduced fee scholarships to staff, faculty, and retirees who wish to purchase a 1-year Wellness Recreation Membership. It is named after Toni McBride (1960-2004), the first director of Cornell Wellness. In the spirit of Toni McBride's nurturing and compassionate personality, this scholarship provides assistance to employees and retirees who are not able to afford the full cost of membership.

The Cornell University Wellness Program has funds to subsidize a limited number of 1-year Wellness Recreation Memberships by 50% (you pay $87.50 for the year) or 100% (you pay $0.00 for the year). Employees and retirees may apply for a scholarship based on the criteria below.

- You must be a benefits-eligible Cornell University employee or retiree.
 - Spouses, partners, or Cornell affiliates are not eligible.
 - Cornell Employees on layoff status are eligible for a scholarship for up to one year.
- You must have an annualized income (as verified in Cornell's payroll system) of $45,000 or less to apply for a scholarship. For example, if you work part time, your annualized income would be your current salary if you worked full time.

Approved scholarships, and the 1-year Wellness Recreation Membership, are effective until June 30 of the fiscal year they are processed in. The scholarship and membership will end at that time.
